NOTICE OF PRIVACY PRACTICES

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW HEALTH INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

OUR LEGAL DUTY

We are required by applicable federal and state law to maintain the privacy of our health information. We are also required to give you this Notice about our privacy practices, our legal duties, and your rights concerning your health information. We must follow the privacy practices that are described in this Notice while it is in effect. This Notice takes effect January 4, 2017, and will remain in effect until we replace it.

We reserve the right to change our privacy practices and the terms of this notice at any time, provided such changes are permitted by applicable law. We reserve the right to make the changes in our privacy practices and the new terms of our Notice effective for all health information that we maintain, including health information we created or received before we made the changes. Before we make a significant change in our privacy practices, we will change this Notice and make the new Notice available upon request.

You may request a copy of our Notice at any time. For more information about our privacy practices, or for additional copies of this Notice, please contact us using the information listed at the end of this Notice.

USES AND DISCLOSURES OF HEALTH INFORMATION

We use and disclose health information about you for treatment, payment, and healthcare operations. For example:

Treatment: We may use or disclose your health information to a physician or other healthcare provider providing treatment to you.

Payment: We may use and disclose your health information to obtain payment for services we provide to you.

Healthcare Operations: We may use and disclose your health information in connection with our healthcare operations. Healthcare operations include quality assessment and improvement activities, reviewing the competence or qualifications of healthcare professionals, evaluating practitioner and provider performance, conducting training programs, accreditation, certification, licensing or credentialing activities.

Your Authorization: In addition to our use of your health information for treatment, payment or healthcare operations, you may give us written authorization to use your health information or to disclose it to anyone for any purpose. If you give us an authorization, you may revoke it in writing at any time. Your revocation will not affect any use or disclosures permitted by your authorization while it was in effect. Unless you give us a written authorization, we cannot use or disclose your health information for any reason except those described in this Notice.

SHARING of DATA:

We request permission to communicate with your other health care providers using expedited techniques including email and text messaging. We have investigated more secure systems but none of them have been efficient or effective, so until those systems are perfected, we will use standard available programs.

For example:

A patient undergoes hospital testing that indicates heart surgery is required:

By texting the surgeon in the operating room, we can facilitate consultation and prompt treatment. Sometimes photographs of the patient's coronary images will be sent to underscore if the patient's condition requires more rapid treatment. This can save hours and often prevent major delays in therapy.

We communicate by text after coronary angioplasty, including before and after images of the procedure, to the patient's primary physician so he or she know exactly what has been found and what has been corrected.

We can text a request for consultation rather than calling the physicians' office, leave a message and wait for the call back.

We text information to the primary caregiver or the admitting hospitalist, enabling for earlier discharge along with passing on written clarification of the medications and steps we are recommending.

We do long distance consultations with colleagues who are thought leaders/experts for a particular medical condition. We can do this by sharing images and data about a patient by text and email to obtain their opinions about the best treatment options of the patient.

Sometimes this leads to referral to one of the leading centers in the country or an adjustment to our local treatment plan. Response times to email and text routinely are much faster than for a phone message left at an office.

Now that we use a cloud based electronics health records system, we can share the data in your chart with our local emergency room physicians. So if the patient has an abnormal EKG in the ER, it is a simple process to review the most recent prior EKG and compare and determine if there is a new acute serious heart condition ongoing or the EKG is stable. If the patient is unable to give a detailed medical history, the list of allergies and current medication list is available for the ER physician, reducing the risk of the patient accidentally receiving the wrong medication.

We take great effort to ensure your privacy. Using standard texting and email enables us to give you better care more promptly.

To Your Family and Friends: We must disclose your health information to you, as described in the Patient Rights section of this Notice. We may disclose your health information to a family member, friend or other person to the extent necessary to help with your healthcare or with payment for your healthcare, but only if you agree that we may do so.

Persons Involved In Care: We may use or disclose health information to notify, or assist in the notification of (including identifying or locating) a family member, your personal representative or another person responsible for your care, of your location, your general condition, or death. If you are present, then prior to use or disclosure of your health information, we will provide you with an opportunity to object to such uses or disclosures. In the event of your incapacity or emergency circumstances, we will disclose health information based on a determination using our professional judgment disclosing only health information that is directly relevant to the person's involvement in your healthcare. We will also use our professional judgment and our experience with common practice to make reasonable inferences of your best interest in allowing a person to pick up filled prescriptions, medical supplies, x-rays, or other similar forms of health information.

Marketing Health-Related Services: We will not use your health information for marketing communications without your written authorization.

Required by Law: We may use or disclose your health information when we are required to do so by law.

Abuse or Neglect: We may disclose your health information to appropriate authorities if we reasonably believe that you are a possible victim of abuse, neglect, or domestic violence or the possible victim of other crimes. We may disclose your health information to the extent necessary to avert a serious threat to your health or safety or the health or safety of others.

National Security: We may disclose to military authorities the health information of Armed Forces personnel under certain circumstances. We may disclose to authorized federal officials health information required for lawful intelligence, counterintelligence, and other national security activities. We may disclose to correctional institution or law enforcement official having lawful custody of protected health information of inmate or patient under certain circumstances.

Appointment Reminders: We may use or disclose your health information to provide you with appointment reminders (such as voicemail messages, postcards, or letters).
